

BROOKLYN NEWS.

ROBBED AS HE SLEPT

Burglars Ransacked Acting Capt. Clayton's House.

His Night Club Dropped from a Table and They Fled.

Secured $75 from His Trousers Pocket and Packed Up Silver.

Allured by the supposition that they would secure a big booty in cash, burglars broke into the residence of Acting Police Capt. Elias P. Clayton, of the Coney Island station, at 1 o'clock this morning and ransacked the house.

After securing $75 from the men accidentally knocked down the Captain's night-stick, which had been left lying upon a table, and the noise awoke Mrs. Clayton, who called her husband, and the burglars fled.

Clayton, who ranks as a sergeant and who was married in the town of Gravesend, was annexed to Brooklyn in July last, lives at Neptune avenue and Cortlandt street.

The burglars forced an entrance through a rear basement window. On the first floor they gathered up clothing, silverware and a few articles of bric-a-brac, which they placed on a table covered with a cloth. Then they ascended to the second floor, on which Capt. Clayton's bedroom is located.

After rummaging about the bureau drawers they entered the Captain's sleeping room. His trousers lay on a chair beside the bed. The thieves searched the pockets and took $75 and some change and dropped the garment upon the floor. When they found that they had secured all his money they got together a quantity of Mrs. Clayton's clothing. While gathering the contents of her wardrobe together the Captain's night stick rolled to the floor. Mrs. Clayton awoke with a start and heard the men running downstairs.

"Burglars!" shrieked Mrs. Clayton, nudging the policeman in the ribs. He jumped out of bed and started in pursuit, but the men had escaped.

The home is less than 100 feet from the Van Siclen station. A watchman who was on duty last night, saw three men cross the tracks at 1 o'clock and walk in the direction of the Captain's house. It was too dark for him to see them well enough to describe them.

Yesterday was pay day in the Police Department, and the burglars, knowing that Clayton was paying his men, may have thought that he still had the salaries of several policemen who had not called for their money. In addition to his own monthly salary of $150.

As it happened, Capt. Clayton paid all his men yesterday before leaving the station, and spent about half of his own salary.

There is no clue to the identity of the thieves.

SAYS HE PRAYED FOR HER.

But Janitor Morrow Admits Carrying the Girl Upstairs.

William Morrow, janitor of a Helping Hand Mission at 1520 Broadway, Brooklyn, was charged in the Gates Avenue Police Court this morning with assaulting fourteen-year-old Sarah McNamara, of 288 Jefferson avenue.

Sarah accompanied Dora Mead, of 1540 Broadway, and Julia Nelson, of 288 Jefferson avenue, to the door of the mission, where they told her they had business. The two older girls told Sarah to call them when the bell was answered, and walked down the street.

Morrow found Sarah McNamara alone, and she said he seized her and carried her upstairs and placed her on a lounge. After fifteen minutes he dismissed her.

Morrow admits taking Sarah upstairs, but says that he only pointed out the error of her ways and prayed for her welfare.

Morrow was held under $500 bonds for trial.

Stable Burned at West Side Harbor.

COLD SPRING HARBOR, L. I., Nov. 1.—The cow stables on the farm of Mrs. DeForest, at West Side Harbor, which had just been completed, were destroyed by fire this morning.

The stables were fully stocked. The cows were, however, released. Farming utensils, including a cow, were saved. The loss is about $200. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin.

BURGLARS FROM JERSEY.

Three Men Arrested There on Indictments Found Here.

William J. Robinson, alias "Pug" Robinson, John Rafferty and John Hennessy, were brought to this city from Jersey City, this morning, on extradition papers granted by Gov. Werts. The prisoners were indicted for burglary in the third degree and grand larceny in the second degree.

It is charged that on Oct. 19 they broke into Louis Mitchell's store, 182 Bowery, and stole $100 worth of clothing. They were committed to the Tombs in default of $1,500 bail each.

Their Union is British Grant.

The defendants claim to hold under a grant from the State of New York the value of the property is placed at $100,000 and it is claimed that the estate of Jost Van O'Brien and his heirs is entitled to the same.

RISKED DIAMONDS AND ROLL.

Woodruff Got Drunk in Brooklyn and Was Arrested.

Had $2,400 in Cash and Wore Jewelry Valued at $3,000.

A man who said he was Frederick W. Woodruff, a real estate speculator, of 115 St. James place, Newark, N. J., was fined $1 by Justice Haggerty in the Myrtle Avenue Court, Brooklyn, this morning on a charge of intoxication.

Woodruff, when arrested, had in his possession nearly $3,000 in crisp bank notes, at least $1,000 worth of diamonds and a watch valued at $500.

He was arrested on Grand avenue, near Myrtle avenue, early last evening. Policeman Kellogg, of the DeKalb avenue station, saw him walking rather unsteadily, and noticing a brilliant diamond flashing from his finger, and another from his shirt front, the officer concluded to take the man into custody.

He heard Woodruff muttering to himself, and when he spoke to him he received no direct answer to his question. Woodruff was taken to the station-house, where he told Sgt. Strong that he was forty-five years old and a bachelor.

"I came over to Brooklyn to have a good time," Woodruff said. "I have a friend here and we had jolly sport."

Sgt. Strong questioned him as to the identity of his friend, saying that he would send for him.

"Oh, no," said the prisoner, "that would never do."

He was told that he might secure his release on furnishing $100 bail, but Woodruff said he would rather remain in the station-house. When the officer began searching Woodruff he brought out valuables which made Sgt. Strong's eyes bulge.

First he produced a roll of bills. There were two $100 notes and many bills of smaller denominations, all making a total of $2,400. The money, together with the diamonds, made an alluring display. After Woodruff had been locked up he complained of hunger, and asked the doorman to get him a meal.

The doorman procured some food, paying for it out of the prisoner's "roll." In court today he paid his fine, and then started for Newark.

NEWARK, N. J., SPEAKS.

Conscience leads me to tell my sad story, which may teach a tender chord in sympathetic hearts, regardless of creed or clime. Five years ago, while a dealer in Chinese curios at Newark, I became dangerously ill. My business vanished, health was gone, but God did not abandon me. Although born in pagan China, the Christian's God was my God.

A Christian lady gave me a mother's care, but my disease baffled medical skill, and I was treated for malaria which I never had. At length it was diagnosed as Leishmaniasis, the dreadful scourge of China. The most excruciating pains tortured me. I could not walk without help. My limbs wasted away until they became like sticks. Perished with a stricture, I felt no pain, but when I closed my eyes I felt.

Able physicians declared me incurable and that I could not live a year. My benefactress was urged to place me in a hospital. Science had not mastered my dreadful disease, and death stared me in the face. Providence inspired her to appeal as a last resort to Dr. Sprague, the eminent specialist on diseases of the brain, nerves, stomach and liver, residing at 143 West 22d st., New York. The case was so desperate that she feared a refusal. My joy was boundless when he said: "I will cure him." He kept his promise.

Nearly five years have gone since given up to die, but I am cured of my fatal disease. Dr. Kerr, physician in chief of the hospital in Canton, China, marvelled at my cure, as the first he heard of in his experience of forty years. Dr. Glanville and Mandeville, of Newark, examined me a second time eighteen months ago and expressed astonishment at the change. I am a member of Dr. Hollister's Third Presbyterian Church, Newark, N. J., whose sympathy I experienced during my long suffering. The age of miracles may be past, but Dr. Sprague is a living proof that the age of scientific wonders is at hand.
